Several consulting services personnel have installed Perfect Office on Win 95 (all betas) and we have found the results to be dismal....

In fact, we think there is a motto at microsoft that says "Chicago aint done, until PerfectOffice wont run...."

We have many problems including:

DAD GPFs all the time when exiting

WP 6.1 has screen redraw problems and often the cursor wont move when your click on the mouse to point it somewhere

Presentations is so bad, its indescribable

On all PO apps the upper right hand corner of the windows where the minimize icon should be is clobbered.

OFWINFIL often GPFs

Shared code often GPFs

GroupWise cant determine email name and pesters you for it every time.

It stinks on Win95 (including final beta, which I am sending you this email on)

Hi David,

This is a reminder that Norman Chin and myself would like to download Beta 2 of Window95 from Provo. Since we have to register from you first before we can get the download instructions from Ben Hendrick of Provo, we're appreciated that you can respond this as soon as possible.

By the way, I sent you the same request to you last week and haven't heard from you yet unfortunately.
