I. INCORPORATION OF BUSINESS TERMS DOCUMENT.

This License Agreement hereby incorporates by reference all of the terms of the Microsoft General OEM Business Terms Document dated January 1, 1999, Number 5117960002 between MS and COMPANY, as may be revised from time to time during the term of this License Agreement by agreement of the parties ("Business Terms Document"). NOTICE:

For Product(s) specified in Exhibit C as licensed under the "per system" royalty calculation provisions, please note the following:

This is a Microsoft Per System License. As a Customer, you may create a "New System" at any time that does not require the payment of a royalty to Microsoft unless the Customer and Microsoft agree to add it to the License Agreement.

Any New System created may be identical in every respect to a system as to which the Customer pays a Per System royalty to Microsoft provided that the New System has a unique model number or model name for internal and external identification purposes which distinguishes it from any system the Customer sells that is included in a Per System License. The requirement of external identification may be satisfied by placement of the unique model name or model number on the machine and its container (if any), without more.

If the Customer does not intend to include a Microsoft operating system product with a New System, the Customer does not need to notify Microsoft at any time of the creation, use or sale of any such New System, nor does it need to take any particular steps to market or advertise the New System.

Under Microsoft's License Agreement, there is no charge or penalty if a Customer chooses at any time to create a New System incorporating a non-Microsoft operating system. If the Customer intends to include a Microsoft operating system product with the New System, the Customer must so notify Microsoft, after which the parties may enter into arm's length negotiation with respect to a license to apply to the New System.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have executed this License Agreement by their duly authorized representatives as of the date set forth above. All signed copies of this License Agreement shall be deemed originals. Each individual signing on behalf of a party below hereby represents and warrants that he or she has full authority to sign this License Agreement and bind his/her respective company to perform all duties and obligations contemplated by this License Agreement.

(c) If COMPANY wishes to re-lease or sell a previously leased Customer System or transfer ownership of a leased Customer System to a Lessee, COMPANY may re-lease, sell or transfer such Customer System with copies of the Product, APM and related materials originally included with such Customer System for no additional royalty to MS. Alternatively, COMPANY may reinstall the Customer System with a later Product Release of the Product or a different Product for which this Additional Provision applies on such Customer System, subject to the royalty obligations and terms set forth in the License Agreement and this Additional Provision. If COMPANY elects to install a later release or alternative Product, COMPANY shall destroy and keep records of the destruction of, the external media, APM and related materials for the Product originally included with such Customer System. COMPANY's use of an agent to perform any of the activities contemplated by this sub-provison (c), shall be contingent on qualification of such agent as an authorized "Third Party" or "Channel" Installer, in accordance with Exhibit I, if and as attached to the Business Terms Document.

(346) COMPANY's license to distribute this Product shall expire on the earlier of December 31, 2000, or the expiration or termination of this License Agreement.

(347) COMPANY may not distribute both MS-DOS and Windows 98, Windows 2000 Professional, or Windows NT Workstation with the same Customer System.

COMPANY's Customer Systems shall be the assembled computer systems described in the table below which (i) are configured for use only by a single user; (ii) are designed to use a video display and keyboard; and (iii) include at least a CPU, a motherboard, a power supply, a hard disk drive (except if the Product software is installed in ROM), and a case. Each listed Customer System must have a unique model line name, model name, or model number which COMPANY uses both internally (in COMPANY's books and records) and externally (on the Customer System case and packaging). For each Product which COMPANY chooses to license for distribution with the listed Customer System, the letter "s" or "c" in the relevant box indicates whether COMPANY is licensing the Product on a "per system" or "per copy" basis, respectively. New models may be added by agreement of the parties.

At COMPANY's option, for purposes of administrative convenience, COMPANY may designate models by model line or series (e.g., "Jaguar model line", "Jaguar Pro series", "Jaguar Pro 750 model line", "Jaguar Pro 950 series", etc.). Customer Systems defined by model line or series shall include all present models which include the designated model line or series name. (e.g., "Jaguar Pro model line" includes Jaguar Pro, Jaguar Pro 950, Jaguar Pro S, etc.; "Jaguar series" includes Jaguar, Jaguar Pro, Jaguar Pro 950, Jaguar S400, etc.; "Jaguar Pro 950 series" includes Jaguar Pro 950, Jaguar Pro 955, etc.).

COMPANY may elect to include as Customer System(s) new models which comply with all of the terms and conditions of the License Agreement by notifying MS of any such new model(s) when COMPANY submits its royalty report for the reporting period in which each such new model is first distributed with the Product. If COMPANY is licensed on more than one basis (e.g., per copy and per system) for the same Product, COMPANY shall include in its notification to MS ("Notice to Add Customer Systems") the basis on which such new Customer System is to be licensed. Unless otherwise agreed to by the parties prior to COMPANY's first distribution of a new model with the Product, each such new model which is in a model line or series licensed in the Customer System table below shall be licensed for the remainder of the term of the License Agreement on the same basis (i.e., per system or per copy) as the other models in the model line or series. All new models added to the License Agreement by way of a Notice to Add Customer Systems shall bear the applicable royalty set forth in this Exhibit C. Any new model in a licensed model line or series which is not included in a Notice to Add Customer Systems (and is thus not licensed for the applicable Product) must have a unique model number or model name used for internal and external identification purposes which distinguishes it from any model which COMPANY has designated previously as a Customer System.

COMPANY's Customer Systems shall be the assembled computer systems described in the table below which (i) are configured for use only by a single user; and (ii) include at least a CPU, a motherboard, a power supply, and a case. For each Product which COMPANY chooses to license for distribution with the listed Customer System, the letter "S" or "C" in the relevant box indicates whether COMPANY is licensing the Product on a "per system" or "per copy" basis, respectively. New models may be added by agreement of the parties.

At COMPANY's option, for purposes of administrative convenience, COMPANY may designate models by model line or series (e.g., "Jaguar model line", "Jaguar Pro series", "Jaguar Pro 750 model line", "Jaguar Pro 950 series", etc.). 2. LICENSE GRANTS, CONDITIONS & RESTRICTIONS

(a) IEAK. MS grants to COMPANY a nonexclusive, limited worldwide, royalty-free license to customize Internet Explorer and Outlook Express using the IEAK in accordance with the Instructions. COMPANY acknowledges and agrees that its use of the IEAK to customize Internet Explorer and Outlook Express requires the rightful receipt from MS of the License Key allocated to COMPANY. COMPANY agrees that it shall only use the IEAK in accordance with the Instructions. In the event the capabilities and/or instructions of the IEAK are in conflict, either by providing more or fewer capabilities than the customization rights granted in Sections 2(d) through (g), the customization rights in Sections 2(d) through (g) shall have precedence.

(b) Licensed Software. MS grants to COMPANY a nonexclusive, limited, worldwide, royalty-free license to use, reproduce and distribute (directly and indirectly through COMPANY's distributors) through COMPANY's distribution channels (including, but not limited to, distribution via the Web) the Licensed Software solely as part of or for use in conjunction with COMPANY's Internet Product to COMPANY's end user customers and prospective end user customers. The foregoing license is expressly subject to the following conditions:

(1) No Standalone Distribution. The Licensed Software may only be distributed as part of or for use with COMPANY's Internet Product, and not as a "standalone" product; provided, however, that COMPANY or COMPANY's sublicensees may distribute updates of the Licensed Software separately for purposes of updating an existing end user customer of an Internet Product.

(2) New Releases. If MSCORP makes a new release (other than an "Update" release which is designated by MSCORP as a change in the hundredths digit [x.x(x)]) of any component of the Licensed Software available, then: (i) COMPANY shall use reasonable efforts to cease reproduction and distribution of the older version of the Licensed Software component and shall use reasonable efforts to commence reproduction and distribution of the new release of the Licensed Software component with COMPANY's Internet Product, provided that COMPANY may deplete its existing inventory of COMPANY's Internet Product containing a prior version of the Licensed Software; and (ii) COMPANY shall use reasonable efforts to notify its end users that a new release of the Licensed Software may be available from MSCORP by at least including substantially the following notice on COMPANY's main public web site for the Internet Product: "A new version of the Licensed Software (or component thereof) may be available from Microsoft. Please go to www.microsoft.com to update your software today."

(3) License Restrictions. The following restrictions apply to the license grant in this Section 2: (i) COMPANY may not reverse engineer, decompile or disassemble the Licensed Software; (ii) COMPANY may not separate the components of the Licensed Software for individual distribution; (iii) Except as expressly provided in Section 2 of this Agreement, COMPANY may not exclude any component of the Licensed Software from its distribution of the Licensed Software with its Internet Product; (iv) COMPANY may not authorize further redistribution of the Licensed Software by its end users of COMPANY's Internet Product; and (v) COMPANY shall maintain and not alter or remove any copyright, trademark, and other protective notices contained in the Licensed Software, including the end user license agreement ("EULA") which is included in the setup installation of the Licensed Software. COMPANY shall also comply with the Guidelines.

(c) Product Quality.

(1) COMPANY agrees to maintain the quality of the Internet Product at a level that meets or exceeds industry standards and that is at least commensurate with the quality of products distributed by COMPANY on or before the Effective Date.

(d) Permitted Customizations. For versions 4.0 of Internet Explorer which support Channels, COMPANY may use the applicable IEAK to perform the any or all of the following additional customizations with respect to Channels.

(1) Add a single COMPANY Channel Icon to the topmost navigation level of the Internet Explorer Active Desktop Channel bar in the position below the Microsoft Channel Guide Icon. Said Icon may link either to COMPANY or third party Channel available through Internet Explorer, provided that any trade names, trademarks, logos or brands displayed on the Channel Icon added by COMPANY shall be limited to COMPANY's mark or COMPANY's Internet Product marks.

(2) Add multiple "sub-channels" grouped underneath (at the second navigation level) the COMPANY Channel Icon on the Internet Explorer Active Desktop channel bar, where each such sub-channel may be linked to COMPANY or third-party Content accessible through Internet Explorer, and where each such sub-channel may use any branding selected by COMPANY. In the case where sub-channels are grouped underneath a COMPANY Channel Icon, the COMPANY Channel is the only Channel which is individually recognized by IE: the sub-channels do not operate as separate Channels by themselves (and cannot be subscribed separately using the Internet Explorer 4.0 user interface).

(3) Configure the COMPANY Channel added by COMPANY to be "subscribed" by default, such that COMPANY Channel Content and schedule information downloads to the end user's computer system hard disk automatically when the end user connects to the Internet and selects the "update" option.

(4) Delete from the Internet Explorer Active Desktop Channel bar any pre-configured Channel Icons that are developed or distributed by companies which compete directly with COMPANY, where such deleted Channels are to include only: (i) pre-configured Channels from other Internet access providers, (ii) pre-configured Channels which are produced by, or exclusively distributed by, direct competitors of COMPANY. COMPANY may not delete a pre-configured Channel Icon that offers Content which is not directly competitive with COMPANY or COMPANY's Content but that may nonetheless compete for the end users' attention or interest with Content offered by COMPANY.

(e) Selection of Pre-Configured Channels. For versions 4.0 of Internet Explorer which support Channels, COMPANY shall use the IEAK to select the pre-configured Channels for the specific territory for which each and every COMPANY-customized version of IE is targeted for distribution. For example, if COMPANY customizes separate versions of IE for distribution into territories A and B, COMPANY shall use the IEAK to select the pre-configured default Channels for territory A for the version of IE COMPANY creates for territory A, and shall use the IEAK to select the pre-configured default Channels for territory B for the version of IE COMPANY creates for territory B. If COMPANY distributes a single version of IE into multiple territories, COMPANY shall use the IEAK to select the pre-configured default Channels that are targeted to the single largest population in the combined territories in which COMPANY distributes IE. For the purposes of this paragraph, "territory" shall mean a language/country combination, such as German/Switzerland or French/Canada.

(f) Internet Explorer Features. For any Channel added by COMPANY pursuant to Section 2(d) above, COMPANY agrees to use reasonable commercial efforts to develop and maintain said Channel such that it demonstrates the advanced features of Internet Explorer (including Dynamic HTML, etc.) and meets end user expectations of performance and frequency of update such that COMPANY's Channel compares favorably, in COMPANY's reasonable judgment, to Channels offered by other companies in COMPANY's line of business.

(g) Use of Standard Redistribution Key. For version 4.0 of Internet Explorer, COMPANY may use the applicable IEAK and the IEAK Customization Wizard with the "Standard Redistribution" key capabilities of the Wizard to perform the any or all of the following customizations

A. DISTRIBUTION PACKAGES

A.1 Non-customized Distribution. If COMPANY chooses not to customize its installations for the Licensed Software, then any distribution by COMPANY must include the "Full" installation option offered in the IEAK. In addition, COMPANY may also include the "Standard" and/or "Minimal" installation options as described in the Instructions. COMPANY may not exclude any Licensed Software component from an installation

A.2 Customized Distribution. If COMPANY does choose to customize its installations of the Licensed Software: (i) any distribution by COMPANY must include either the "Full" or "Standard" installation and (ii) COMPANY may add its own components and options to such installation; provided, however, in no event may COMPANY remove any components of the Licensed Software from such installation.

COMPANY acknowledges and agrees that its use of the IEAK to customize Internet Explorer and Outlook Express requires the rightful receipt from MS of the License Key allocated to COMPANY. COMPANY agrees that it shall only use the IEAK in accordance with the Instructions. In the event the capabilities and/or instructions of the IEAK are in conflict, either by providing more or fewer capabilities than the customization rights granted in Sections 2(d) through (g), the customization rights in Sections 2(d) through (g) shall have p.eccedence.

(b) Licensed Software. MS grants to COMPANY a nonexclusive, limited, worldwide, royalty-free license to use, reproduce and distribute (directly and indirectly through COMPANY's distributors) through COMPANY's distribution channels (including, but not limited to, distribution via the Web) the Licensed Software solely as part of or for use in conjunction with COMPANY's Internet Product to COMPANY's end user customers and prospective end user customers. The foregoing license is expressly subject to the following conditions:

(1) No Standalone Distribution. The Licensed Software may only be distributed as part of or for use with COMPANY's Internet Product, and not as a "standalone" product; provided, however, that COMPANY or COMPANY's sublicensees may distribute updates of the Licensed Software separately for purposes of updating an existing end user customer of an Internet Product.

(2) New Releases. If MSCORP makes a new release (other than an "Update" release which is designated by MSCORP as a change in the hundredths digit [x.x(x)]) of any component of the Licensed Software available, then: (i) COMPANY shall use reasonable efforts to cease reproduction and distribution of the older version of the Licensed Software component and shall use reasonable efforts to commence reproduction and distribution of the new release of the Licensed Software component with COMPANY's Internet Product, provided that COMPANY may deplete its existing inventory of COMPANY's Internet Product containing a prior version of the Licensed Software; and (ii) COMPANY shall use reasonable efforts to notify its end users that a new release of the Licensed Software may be available from MSCORP by at least including substantially the following notice on COMPANY's main public web site for the Internet Product: "A new version of the Licensed Software (or component thereof) may be available from Microsoft. Please go to www.microsoft.com to update your software today."

(3) License Restrictions. The following restrictions apply to the license grant in this Section 2: (i) COMPANY may not reverse engineer, decompile or disassemble the Licensed Software; (ii) COMPANY may not separate the components of the Licensed Software for individual distribution; (iii) Except as expressly provided in Section 2 of this Agreement, COMPANY may not exclude any component of the Licensed Software from its distribution of the Licensed Software with its Internet Product; (iv) COMPANY may not authorize further redistribution of the Licensed Software by its end users of COMPANY's Internet Product; and (v) COMPANY shall maintain and not alter or remove any copyright, trademark, and other protective notices contained in the Licensed Software, including the end user license agreement ("EULA") which is included in the setup installation of the Licensed Software. COMPANY shall also comply with the Guidelines.

(c) Product Quality.

(1) COMPANY agrees to maintain the quality of the Internet Product at a level that meets or exceeds industry standards and that is at least commensurate with the quality of products distributed by COMPANY on or before the Effective Date.

(d) Permitted Customizations. For versions 4.0 of Internet Explorer which support Channels, COMPANY may use the applicable IEAK to perform the any or all of the following additional customizations with respect to Channels.

(1) Add a single COMPANY Channel Icon to the topmost navigation level of the Internet Explorer Active Desktop Channel bar in the position below the Microsoft Channel Guide Icon. Said Icon may link either to COMPANY or third party Channel available through Internet Explorer, provided that any trade names, trademarks, logos or brands displayed on the Channel Icon added by COMPANY shall be limited to COMPANY's mark or COMPANY's Internet Product marks.

(2) Add multiple "sub-channels" grouped underneath (at the second navigation level) the COMPANY Channel Icon on the Internet Explorer Active Desktop channel bar, where each such sub-channel may be linked to COMPANY or third-party Content accessible through Internet Explorer, and where each such sub-channel may use any branding selected by COMPANY. In the case where sub-channels are grouped underneath a COMPANY Channel Icon, the COMPANY Channel is the only Channel which is individually recognized by IE; the sub-channels do not operate as separate Channels by themselves (and cannot be subscribed separately using the Internet Explorer 4.0 user interface).

(3) Configure the COMPANY Channel added by COMPANY to be "subscribed" by default, such that COMPANY Channel Content and schedule information downloads to the end user's computer system hard disk automatically when the end user connects to the Internet and selects the "update" option.

(4) Delete from the Internet Explorer Active Desktop Channel bar any pre-configured Channel Icons that are developed or distributed by companies which compete directly with COMPANY, where such deleted Channels are to include only: (i) pre-configured Channels from other Internet access providers, (ii) pre-configured Channels which are produced by, or exclusively distributed by, direct competitors of COMPANY. COMPANY may not delete a pre-configured Channel Icon that offers Content which is not directly competitive with COMPANY or COMPANY's Content but that may nonetheless compete for the end users' attention or interest with Content offered by COMPANY.

(e) Selection of Pre-Configured Channels. For versions 4.0 of Internet Explorer which support Channels, COMPANY shall use the IEAK to select the pre-configured Channels for the specific territory for which each and every COMPANY-customized version of IE is targeted for distribution. For example, if COMPANY customizes separate versions of IE for distribution into territories A and B, COMPANY shall use the IEAK to select the pre-configured default Channels for territory A for the version of IE COMPANY creates for territory A, and shall use the IEAK to select the pre-configured default Channels for territory B for the version of IE COMPANY creates for territory B. If COMPANY distributes a single version of IE into multiple territories, COMPANY shall use the IEAK to select the pre-configured default Channels that are targeted to the single largest population in the combined territories in which COMPANY distributes IE. For the purposes of this paragraph, "territory" shall mean a language/country combination, such as German/Switzerland or French/Canada.

(f) Internet Explorer Features. For any Channel added by COMPANY pursuant to Section 2(d) above, COMPANY agrees to use reasonable commercial efforts to develop and maintain said Channel such that it demonstrates the advanced features of Internet Explorer (including Dynamic HTML, etc.) and meets end user expectations of performance and frequency of update such that COMPANY's Channel compares favorably, in COMPANY's reasonable judgment, to Channels offered by other companies in COMPANY's line of business.

COMPANY may not exclude any Licensed Software component from an installation

A.2 Customized Distribution. If COMPANY does choose to customize its installations of the Licensed Software: (i) any distribution by COMPANY must include either the "Full" or "Standard" installation and (ii) COMPANY may add its own components and options to such installation; provided, however, in no event may COMPANY remove any components of the Licensed Software from such installation.

MICROSOFT LICENSE AGREEMENT FOR DESKTOP OPERATING SYSTEM PRODUCTS

5123550002 dated 1 April 2000

with HEWLETT-PACKARD COMPANY, a corporation of Delaware, USA

This License Agreement ("License Agreement") is made and entered into as of the date first set forth above ("License Effective Date"), by and between MICROSOFT LICENSING, INC., a Nevada, U.S.A. corporation ("MS"), and the company specified above ("COMPANY").

I. INCORPORATION OF BUSINESS TERMS DOCUMENT.

This License Agreement hereby incorporates by reference all of the terms of the Microsoft General OEM Business Terms Document dated January 1, 1999, Number 5117960002 between MS and COMPANY, as may be revised from time to time during the term of this License Agreement by agreement of the parties ("Business Terms Document"). In the event of any inconsistencies between this License Agreement and the Business Terms Document, the terms of this License Agreement shall control.

II. LICENSE GRANT.

(a) Subject to limitations in, and COMPANY's compliance with, this License Agreement, including the Business Terms Document incorporated herein and attached Exhibits, for those Customer System(s) identified on Exhibit(s) C as licensed for the particular Product(s), MS grants to COMPANY a non-exclusive, limited license to:

(i) install, distribute, and sublicense to end users under the MS EULA and the rights and obligations of the respective parties contained therein up to two (2) copies of Preinstalled Product Software, the second copy of which, if installed and distributed, shall be placed in ROM or on a separate hard disk partition for recovery purposes in accordance with the specifications for recovery media in the Microsoft OEM Custom Recovery Resource Guide or its successor document (as expressly identified by MS); and

(ii) distribute and sublicense to end users under the MS EULA and the rights and obligations of the respective parties contained therein only inside the Customer System package(s) the following:

(A) one (1) copy of the Product software on 1) COMPANY-branded, BIOS-locked external media (e.g., diskette or CD-ROM) or 2) while available, Microsoft-branded media, in each case as acquired from an Authorized Replicator;

(B) one (1) copy of Product end user documentation as acquired from an Authorized Replicator; and

(C) one (1) copy of such other materials as are included in the APM.

(b) COMPANY's license shall extend to new Supplements, Update Releases, and Version Releases following the release listed in Exhibit C

(c) Except as otherwise provided in the applicable Exhibit C, COMPANY's license rights shall be worldwide.

(d) COMPANY may grant to COMPANY Subsidiaries the limited rights granted to COMPANY in (a) and (b) of this License Grant Section as well as any rights MS may grant to COMPANY for Products licensed herein under a Supplement Addendum during the term hereof, subject to all the terms and conditions set forth in this License Agreement.

(e) (i) COMPANY shall comply with: (A) the additional provisions, if any, provided in Exhibit(s) C with respect to Product(s); and (B) marketing or advertising guidelines provided with the Product Deliverables or otherwise provided in writing by MS.

(ii) COMPANY shall not modify or delete any part of the Product software in any manner, except as expressly permitted in the applicable Exhibit C.

(iii) COMPANY may supplement but shall not modify or translate Product end user documentation. COMPANY shall not remove or modify the package contents of Product or APM except as expressly permitted in the applicable Exhibit C.

(iv) COMPANY shall distribute one (1) copy of such Product end user documentation as may be required by MS and such other materials as are included in the APM with and inside the package(s) of each Customer System distributed with Product software, except as expressly permitted in the applicable Exhibit C.

(v) External media for the Product, including all BIOS locking technology used by COMPANY thereon, shall comply with the standards set forth in the Microsoft OEM Custom Recovery Resource Guide or its successor document (as expressly identified by MS).

(f) All distribution and use of the Product is by license only. MS does not authorize all or any portion of the Product to be "issued to the public", "put into circulation", or subject to a "first sale" as the copyright laws may use those (or similar) terms. COMPANY's license to distribute the Product is limited to distribution of the Product by COMPANY and to sublicense to end users for their use pursuant to the EULA as provided in section II (a) of this License Agreement.

(g) MS reserves all rights not expressly granted in the License Agreement(s) including, without limitation, modification rights, translation rights, and rights to source code. Except as provided in this License Agreement, MS expressly reserves its exclusive right under applicable copyright, patent, and trademark laws to distribute copies of Product by any means. Without limitation, MS does not authorize COMPANY, and MS reserves its exclusive right, to distribute the Product separately from Customer Systems except with respect to software replacement media pursuant to Section 2(c)(ii) of the Business Terms Document; any such unauthorized distribution by COMPANY shall constitute a violation of the License Agreement and MS' distribution right under applicable law. COMPANY acknowledges that MS (and/or its suppliers, if applicable) shall retain all copyright, patent, moral, trademark, title and other proprietary and intellectual property in the Product software, Product Deliverables and components thereof, in whole or in part in any form.

III. ADDITIONAL PAYMENT AND REPORTING TERMS.

(a) (i) COMPANY agrees to pay MS the royalties in Exhibit(s) C in accordance with Section 3 of the Business Terms Document. Royalties are based upon COMPANY's estimated shipment volume indicated in Exhibit(s) C and, where appropriate, the Patent Cross License Agreement between MSCORP and COMPANY, dated June 1, 1996.

(ii) COMPANY shall pay MS the royalty and default charge applicable to the Product, for the difference between the number of COAs acquired from Authorized Replicators and the number of Products reported as shipped by COMPANY on its royalty reports, less the number of COAs which can be shown to the reasonable satisfaction of MS to have been destroyed by COMPANY or shipped as replacements to End User Customers.

(c) COMPANY agrees that MS may, in its sole discretion, change the Billing Type for Product(s) described in Exhibit(s) C upon one hundred and twenty (120) days written notice to COMPANY. If COMPANY has inventory of Product(s) at the time of such transition, COMPANY shall submit a report detailing such Product(s) in inventory including the number of units, name(s), version number(s), and other information as MS may reasonably request in accordance with Section 3(e)(i)(A) of the Business Terms Document.

IV. LICENSE TERM.

The term of this License Agreement shall run from the License Effective Date through 31 March 2001.

V. ENTIRE AGREEMENT.

Upon execution by both parties, this License Agreement together with the Business Terms Document as incorporated herein shall constitute the entire agreement between the parties with respect to the subject matter hereof and merges all prior and contemporaneous communications.

NOTICE:

For Product(s) specified in Exhibit C as licensed under the "per system" royalty calculation provisions, please note the following:

This is a Microsoft Per System License. As a Customer, you may create a "New System" at any time that does not require the payment of a royalty to Microsoft unless the Customer and Microsoft agree to add it to the License Agreement.

Any New System created may be identical in every respect to a system as to which the Customer pays a Per System royalty to Microsoft provided that the New System has a unique model number or model name for internal and external identification purposes which distinguishes it from any system the Customer sells that is included in a Per System License. The requirement of external identification may be satisfied by placement of the unique model name or model number on the machine and its container (if any), without more.

If the Customer does not intend to include a Microsoft operating system product with a New System, the Customer does not need to notify Microsoft at any time of the creation, use or sale of any such New System, nor does it need to take any particular steps to market or advertise the New System.

Under Microsoft's License Agreement, there is no charge or penalty if a Customer chooses at any time to create a New System incorporating a non-Microsoft operating system. If the Customer intends to include a Microsoft operating system product with the New System, the Customer must so notify Microsoft, after which the parties may enter into arm's length negotiation with respect to a license to apply to the New System.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have executed this License Agreement by their duly authorized representatives as of the date set forth above. All signed copies of this License Agreement shall be deemed originals. Each individual signing on behalf of a party below hereby represents and warrants that he or she has full authority to sign this License Agreement and bind his/her respective company to perform all duties and obligations contemplated by this License Agreement. ~~If COMPANY is located in a jurisdiction in which a corporate seal or "chop" is commonly used as an instrument of agreement execution, in addition to the individual signature provided below, COMPANY's seal or "chop" should be entered below COMPANY's signature block.~~

ADDITIONAL PROVISIONS KEY
(Note: Only those Additional Provisions applicable to licensed Product(s) may appear. Section numbering may not be consecutive.)

(17) Except as otherwise provided in Attachment 2 or in writing by MS, COMPANY may not distribute more than one (1) of the Products or combinations of Products listed in the Family table above with each licensed Customer System. COMPANY's report shall separately indicate the quantity of each such Product or combination of Products that COMPANY distributes.

(18) (a) COMPANY shall preinstall the Product software solely in accordance with the installation instructions set forth in the OEM Preinstallation Kit included in the Product Deliverables ("OPK"). COMPANY may use the information, tools and materials contained in the OPK solely to preinstall the Product software in accordance with the OPK and for no other purpose. COMPANY is not licensed to, and agrees that it will not, modify, in any way, or delete any aspect of the Product software (including, without limitation, any features, shortcuts, icons, Active Desktop components (as described in the OPK), "wizards", folders (including sub-folders) or programs of Product software) as delivered in the Product Deliverables, except if and as specifically permitted below or in the OPK. In particular, and without limitation, this means that COMPANY is not licensed to and agrees that it will not:

(i) Modify or obscure, in any way, the sequence or appearance of any screens displayed by the Product software as delivered in the Product Deliverables from the time the Customer System completes BIOS processing after being switched on by the end user and transfers control to the Product software loaded from the hard disk ("End User Boot") until the time that the "welcome screen" program has been run and closed by the end user and the Customer System displays the Product software "desktop" screen defined in the OPK ("Desktop Screen").

(ii) Except as provided in (iii) below, display any content (including visual displays or sound) from End User Boot through and including the time that the Customer System has displayed the Desktop Screen.

(iii) Modify or obscure, in any way, the appearance of the Desktop Screen (including without limitation, the addition or modification of background wallpaper bitmaps displayed upon End User Boot): provided, however, that (A) COMPANY may add icons or folders to the Desktop Screen provided that any such icons are the same size and substantially similar shape as icons included on the Desktop Screen as delivered in the Product Deliverables and that any such folders are the same size, shape and appearance as folders included on the Desktop Screen as delivered in the Product Deliverables and (B) COMPANY may further modify the Desktop Screen when running in "Active Desktop" mode as provided in (b) below.

(iv) Use any portion of Product software to enable any programs or other content to run or appear prior to End User Boot.

(v) Configure any programs (including without limitation any "shells", "screen savers" or "welcome" scripts), "wizards" or other content to be enabled, run or initialized automatically (i.e. without requiring a deliberate act of the end user) from an icon or folder on the Desktop Screen or from the "Start" Menu of the Desktop Screen or otherwise. By way of example only, and without limiting the generality of the foregoing, COMPANY agrees that it shall not (1) populate with any programs or other content the Product software "Start-up" directory (e.g., "Windows\Start Menu\Programs\StartUp" folder for Windows 95, or "%windir%\profiles\<user(s)>\Start Menu\Programs\Startup" folder for Windows NT Workstation 4.0) or (2) populate the boot.ini, config.sys, autoexec.bat, win.ini, system.ini, system.dat or user.dat files in any manner which will cause any program or content to run or load automatically upon End User Boot, except for device drivers necessary to support preinstalled or preconfigured hardware devices (e.g., network cards, printers, etc.).

(vi) Modify or add content to any directories installed by the Product software, except as permitted in the OPK for Active Desktop customization and for preinstallation of applications by COMPANY.

(b) (i) If the Product software includes the ability to run in "Active Desktop" mode, COMPANY may customize the Active Desktop in the Preinstalled Product Software in accordance with the instructions for customization provided in the OPK, provided COMPANY otherwise complies fully with Additional Provision (18)(a) above. Upon request, MS shall provide COMPANY with a copy of any such instructions.

(ii) In order to perform the customizations provided in the OPK, MS shall provide COMPANY with an Internet Explorer Administration Kit ("IEAK") or other kit. MS grants to COMPANY a nonexclusive, limited worldwide, royalty-free license during the term of the License Agreement to use the IEAK to customize the Preinstalled Product Software provided that COMPANY shall use the IEAK specific to such release of Product and solely in accordance with the instructions in the OPK. In the event that the capabilities and/or instructions of the IEAK are in conflict with the customizations authorized in the OPK (e.g. the IEAK provides different customization capabilities than those authorized in the OPK), the instructions in the OPK shall take precedence.

(19) COMPANY shall include a full copy of the back-up disk images ("CAB" files) contained in the OPK and such other directories or files as specified in the OPK on the hard disk drive of each Customer System distributed with the Product. If, and only if, COMPANY distributes the Product software solely as Preinstalled Product Software (i.e., without a back-up copy of the Product on CD, diskette, magnetic tape, or other external media) with any Customer System that is designed to include or be used with a 3.5" disk drive, then COMPANY shall also preinstall the Microsoft Create System Disk Tool contained in the OPK on the hard disk drive of such Customer System to enable the end user to make a back-up copy of the Product software according to the terms of the EULA. Diskette images may only be used with the Microsoft Create System Disk Tool. COMPANY may not distribute, use, or authorize the use of the Microsoft Create System Disk Tool or diskette images except as provided in this Additional Provision or as specified in the OPK.

(20) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the License Agreement (including Exhibits and the Business Terms Document as incorporated therein), COMPANY may distribute Product(s) only with Customer Systems which are branded under COMPANY's or COMPANY Subsidiaries' brand names, trade names and trademarks to indicate COMPANY or COMPANY Subsidiary is the manufacturer (i.e., excludes co-branding of Customer System manufacturing). Unless otherwise provided in the Exhibit D, the Product(s) may not be distributed with Customer Systems which are branded under any name which includes any third party brand names, trade names or trademarks.

(21) COMPANY shall preinstall the Product software solely in accordance with the installation instructions set forth in the OEM Preinstallation Kit included in the Product Deliverables ("OPK"). COMPANY may use the information, tools and materials contained in the OPK solely to preinstall the Product software in accordance with the OPK and for no other purpose. Other than as specified in the OPK, COMPANY shall not modify the Product software, nor delete or remove any features or functionality without the written approval of MS in each instance.

(25) The Japanese language version of the MS-DOS operating system is version 6.2/V. The Japanese language version of Enhanced Tools for MS-DOS 6 is 1.0/V.

(26) (a) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in Section II of the License Agreement and in Sections 2 and 6 of the Business Terms Document, COMPANY may install one or more language versions (listed in the Language Version box above) of Product software with each applicable Customer System provided that COMPANY complies with the following restrictions:

(i) COMPANY may distribute such multiple language versions of Product software only in the form of Preinstalled Product Software. Except as otherwise provided in writing by MS, COMPANY may distribute only one backup copy of Product software in one language version for use on each such Customer System;

(ii) COMPANY shall use the set-up utility included in the Product Deliverables which allows the end-user to choose one, and only one, language version of Product for the Customer System;

(iii) COMPANY shall follow all guidelines and procedures set forth in the Product Deliverables regarding the installation, set-up, and initialization of multiple language versions of Product software; and

(iv) COMPANY shall clearly indicate to end-users, including without limitation, in advertising and on Customer System packaging, that end-users shall have access to one language version only.

(b) COMPANY hereby indemnifies MS and MSCORP from and against all damages, costs and attorneys' fees arising from claims or demands resulting from COMPANY's distribution of multiple language versions including, without limitation, claims that the end-user is entitled to use more than one language version of the Product or that advertisements, Customer System packaging, or other representations concerning the use of language versions made by or for COMPANY are false and/or misleading.

(c) COMPANY shall make reasonable efforts to include with its royalty report, information indicating the number of Customer Systems distributed with multiple language versions of Product.

(d) For purposes of the royalty calculation provisions of Section 3 of the Business Terms Document, preinstallation of multiple language versions of Product performed in accordance with the instructions for multiple language installation provided in the OPK shall constitute "one language" version. In such event, COMPANY shall pay the highest royalty applicable to the language versions distributed.

(e) If COMPANY does not comply with all of the requirements stated above, in addition to any other remedies MS may have, COMPANY shall pay MS the applicable royalty for each language version of Product software included with the Customer System.

(27) In order to support end-users of this Product, COMPANY agrees to employ at all times at least one (1) support technician who has successfully completed the Microsoft Certified Professional program for this Product.

(28) (a) Though the Product Deliverables for this Product may include versions of the Product designed for other types of microprocessors, COMPANY is licensed to distribute the Product only with and for use on Customer Systems based on the Intel x86, Pentium or compatible architecture.

(b) COMPANY shall include a full copy of the \i386 directory, \support directory (except \support\opk \support\hqtool and \support\scsitool subdirectories), and \drvlib directory contained in the OPK on the hard disk drive of each Customer System distributed with the Product.

(29) COMPANY is not licensed to distribute this Product on Customer Systems which are capable of utilizing more microprocessors than the number specified in the Product Table above.

(30) The Default Charge for this Product as described in Section 3(c)(vi) of the Business Terms Document shall be thirty percent (30%) of the highest royalty rate for the Product stated in the Product Table above.

(31) Except as otherwise provided herein and/or in writing by MS, COMPANY may not distribute more than one Windows operating system with the same Customer System.

(52) (a) The Chinese (Simplified) language versions of MS-DOS are available with only simplified Chinese character fonts licensed from a third party. COMPANY acknowledges that such fonts may differ in quality and characteristics to Chinese character fonts available in other Microsoft Products.

(b) The Chinese (Simplified) language versions of MS-DOS are available only through selected Authorized Replicators as specified by MS. From time to time, MS shall provide an updated list of Authorized Replicators through which the Chinese (Simplified) language version of this Product is available.

(c) The packaging for the Chinese (Simplified) language version of this Product distributed with Customer Systems within or to the PRC shall be clearly marked in both English and simplified Chinese. "Not for distribution or use outside the People's Republic of China".

(55) If a Customer System is licensed for more than one Windows operating system or operating system combination (e.g., Windows 2000 Professional, Windows 98, Windows 95, or MS-DOS) on a per system basis, COMPANY shall pay the royalty for the operating system Product or operating system combination Product distributed with the Customer System.

(313) COMPANY may pre-populate a product identification number or "PID" on behalf of the end user provided that such PID matches the unique number provided by MS to COMPANY for COMPANY's preinstallation of the Product.

(342) The Certificate of Authenticity ("COA") for this Product will be made available in a sticker format. When available from the Authorized Replicator, COMPANY shall affix the COA sticker to the front, back, or side of each Customer System chassis in an easily accessible location. If the Customer System is a laptop computer, COMPANY may alternatively affix the COA sticker to the bottom of the system chassis.

(344) COMPANY may install and distribute the Product on Customer Systems that are leased to end users ("Lessee"), provided the conditions listed below are and remain satisfied.

(a) COMPANY shall enter into a lease agreement with a Lessee for Customer Systems distributed with the Product ("Lease"). The term of each Lease shall be no less than twelve (12) nor longer than sixty (60) consecutive months. COMPANY shall have the right to re-lease each Customer System.

(b) The Lease shall provide that at the expiration or termination of the Lease the Lessee shall purchase or return the Customer System (together with all copies of Product, any APM and Product CD-ROM, diskettes or other media) to COMPANY or its ~~leasing A~~agent.

(c) If COMPANY wishes to re-lease or sell a previously leased Customer System or transfer ownership of a leased Customer System to a Lessee, COMPANY may re-lease, sell or transfer such Customer System with copies of the Product, APM and related materials originally included with such Customer System for no additional royalty to MS. Alternatively, COMPANY may reinstall the Customer System with a later Product Release of the Product or a different Product for which this Additional Provision applies on such Customer System, subject to the royalty obligations and terms set forth in the License Agreement and this Additional Provision. If COMPANY elects to install a later release or alternative Product, COMPANY shall destroy and keep records of the destruction of, the external media, APM and related materials for the Product originally included with such Customer System. COMPANY's use of an agent to perform any of the activities contemplated by this sub-provison (c) , shall be contingent on qualification of such agent as an authorized "Third Party" or "Channel" Installer, in accordance with Exhibit I, if and as attached to the Business Terms Document.

(346) COMPANY's license to distribute this Product shall expire on the earlier of December 31, 2000, or the expiration or termination of this License Agreement.

(347) COMPANY may not distribute both MS-DOS and Windows 98, Windows 2000 Professional, or Windows NT Workstation with the same Customer System.

CUSTOMER SYSTEMS

COMPANY's Customer Systems shall be the assembled computer systems described in the table below which (i) are configured for use only by a single user; (ii) are designed to use a video display and keyboard; and (iii) include at least a CPU, a motherboard, a power supply, a hard disk drive (except if the Product software is installed in ROM), and a case. Each listed Customer System must have a unique model line name, model name, or model number which COMPANY uses both internally (in COMPANY's books and records) and externally (on the Customer System case and packaging). For each Product which COMPANY chooses to license for distribution with the listed Customer System, the letter "s" or "c" in the relevant box indicates whether COMPANY is licensing the Product on a "per system" or "per copy" basis, respectively. New models may be added by agreement of the parties.

At COMPANY's option, for purposes of administrative convenience, COMPANY may designate models by model line or series (e.g., "Jaguar model line", "Jaguar Pro series", "Jaguar Pro 750 model line", "Jaguar Pro 950 series", etc.). Customer Systems defined by model line or series shall include all present models which include the designated model line or series name. (e.g., "Jaguar Pro model line" includes Jaguar Pro, Jaguar Pro 950, Jaguar Pro S, etc.; "Jaguar series" includes Jaguar, Jaguar Pro, Jaguar Pro 950, Jaguar S400, etc.; "Jaguar Pro 950 series" includes Jaguar Pro 950, Jaguar Pro 955, etc.).

COMPANY may elect to include as Customer System(s) new models which comply with all of the terms and conditions of the License Agreement by notifying MS of any such new model(s) when COMPANY submits its royalty report for the reporting period in which each such new model is first distributed with the Product. If COMPANY is licensed on more than one basis (e.g., per copy and per system) for the same Product, COMPANY shall include in its notification to MS ("Notice to Add Customer Systems") the basis on which such new Customer System is to be licensed. Unless otherwise agreed to by the parties prior to COMPANY's first distribution of a new model with the Product, each such new model which is in a model line or series licensed in the Customer System table below shall be licensed for the remainder of the term of the License Agreement on the same basis (i.e., per system or per copy) as the other models in the model line or series. All new models added to the License Agreement by way of a Notice to Add Customer Systems shall bear the applicable royalty set forth in this Exhibit C. Any new model in a licensed model line or series which is not included in a Notice to Add Customer Systems (and is thus not licensed for the applicable Product) must have a unique model number or model name used for internal and external identification purposes which distinguishes it from any model which COMPANY has designated previously as a Customer System.

With respect to such recovery media, MS grants COMPANY the right to reproduce Product software in object code form in accordance with MS specifications contained in the Product Deliverables for distribution with the applicable Customer System, provided that:

(8) recovery media may include a single copy of each of the following files in order that the recovery media shall be "bootable": command.com, io.sys, msdos.sys, and for Customer Systems with Windows 95 and\or Windows 98, drvspace.bin.

(4) COMPANY may not distribute Windows 95 with other Windows Products and/or MS-DOS Products with the same Customer System.

(p) Windows for Workgroups version 3.11 includes Microsoft At Work fax transmission software. Windows 95 and Windows 98 include some or all of Microsoft At Work fax transmission software, Remote Access Service, and Remote Procedure Calls. Each of these software components provide methods for stand-alone and networked computers to send and receive fax messages with certain security levels. French law (Decree 92-1358 of December 1992) generally prohibits the use in France of such technology, unless special approvals are granted. Accordingly, to avoid violating this Decree, COMPANY should provide only the version of Windows for Workgroups version 3.11 designed for France. Windows 95 and Window 98 has been designed to disable the security in each of these features when the default locale assigned during installation is France.

(q) COMPANY's EULA for this Product shall be the then current EULA as provided by MS from time to time except that it shall be modified as indicated in Section II of this License Agreement and the following paragraph shall replace the Grant of License Section of the EULA:

"1. GRANT OF LICENSE. This EULA grants you the following rights:

- Software. You may use the SOFTWARE as installed on the SYSTEM. If you use the SOFTWARE to enable the SYSTEM to act as a network server, a maximum of ten (10) inbound peer connections may simultaneously access or otherwise utilize the basic network services of the SOFTWARE on the SYSTEM. The ten-connection maximum includes any indirect connections made through software or hardware that pools or aggregates connections.

- Application Sharing. The SOFTWARE may contain technology that enables applications to be shared between two or more SYSTEMS, even if an application is installed on only one of the SYSTEMS. You should consult your application license agreement or contact the application licensor to determine whether sharing the application is permitted by its licensor.

- Storage/Network Use. If the SOFTWARE is installed on the SYSTEM over an internal network from a server, you must acquire and dedicate a license for the SOFTWARE for each SYSTEM on which the SOFTWARE is used or to which it is distributed. A license for the SOFTWARE may not be shared or used concurrently on different SYSTEMS. "

- Back-up Copy. If MANUFACTURER has not included a copy of the SOFTWARE on separate media with the SYSTEM, you may make a single copy of the SOFTWARE for use solely for archival purposes with the SYSTEM."

Notwithstanding the definition of Customer Systems in Section I of the Business Terms Document, COMPANY's Customer Systems for Product described in this Exhibit C shall be limited to COMPANY's current and future Dedicated Systems described below. "Dedicated Systems" are COMPANY's computer systems or computing devices described below, are distributed with Product software and are designed for exclusive use with a Dedicated Application or Supplemental Application (as defined herein). A "Dedicated Application" means a dedicated purpose software program that provides the primary functionality of the Dedicated System and which when used with the Dedicated System offers significant functionality in addition to the Product software. A Dedicated Application excludes any software program which addresses more than one function of the office automation or consumer computing markets. Office automation and consumer computing functions include, without limitation, email, word processing, spreadsheets, database, network browsing, scheduling, and personal finance. A "Supplemental Application" means non-MS software that may be utilized by the Dedicated System. A Dedicated System excludes any personal, laptop, desktop, handheld, notebook, or server computers which address more than one function of the office automation or consumer computing markets and shall not be useable as a

At Customer's option, for purposes of administrative convenience, Customer may designate models by model line or series, e.g., "Jaguar model line", "Jaguar Pro series", "Jaguar Pro 750 model line", "Jaguar Pro 950 series", etc.)." Customer Systems defined by model line or series shall include all present models which include the designated model line or series name, (e.g., "Jaguar Pro model line" includes Jaguar Pro, Jaguar Pro 950, Jaguar Pro S, etc.; "Jaguar series" includes Jaguar, Jaguar Pro, Jaguar Pro 950, Jaguar S400, etc.; "Jaguar Pro 950 series" includes Jaguar Pro 950, Jaguar Pro 955, etc.).

COMPANY's Customer Systems shall be the assembled computer systems described in the table below which (i) are configured for use only by a single user; and (ii) include at least a CPU, a motherboard, a power supply, and a case. For each Product which COMPANY chooses to license for distribution with the listed Customer System, the letter "S" or "C" in the relevant box indicates whether COMPANY is licensing the Product on a "per system" or "per copy" basis, respectively. New models may be added by agreement of the parties.

At COMPANY's option, for purposes of administrative convenience, COMPANY may designate models by model line or series (e.g., "Jaguar model line", "Jaguar Pro series", "Jaguar Pro 750 model line", "Jaguar Pro 950 series", etc.). Customer Systems defined by model line or series shall include all present models which include the designated model line or series name, (e.g., "Jaguar Pro model line" includes Jaguar Pro, Jaguar Pro 950, Jaguar Pro S, etc.; "Jaguar series" includes Jaguar, Jaguar Pro, Jaguar Pro 950, Jaguar S400, etc.; "Jaguar Pro 950 series" includes Jaguar Pro 950, Jaguar Pro 955, etc.).

If COMPANY is licensed on more than one basis (e.g., per copy and per system) for the same Product, COMPANY shall include in its notification to MS ("Notice to Add Customer Systems") the basis on which such new Customer System is to be licensed. Unless otherwise agreed to by the parties prior to COMPANY's first distribution of a new model with the Product, each such new model which is in a model line or series licensed in the Customer System table below shall be licensed for the remainder of the term of the License Agreement on the same basis (i.e., per system or per copy) as the other models in the model line or series. All new models added to the License Agreement by way of a Notice to Add Customer Systems shall bear the applicable royalty set forth in this Exhibit C. Any new model in a licensed model line or series which is not included in a Notice to Add Customer Systems (and is thus not licensed for the applicable Product) must have a unique model number or model name used for internal and external identification purposes which distinguishes it from any model which COMPANY has designated previously as a Customer System.

2. LICENSE GRANTS, CONDITIONS & RESTRICTIONS

(a) IEAK. MS grants to COMPANY a nonexclusive, limited worldwide, royalty-free license to customize Internet Explorer and Outlook Express using the IEAK in accordance with the Instructions. COMPANY acknowledges and agrees that its use of the IEAK to customize Internet Explorer and Outlook Express requires the rightful receipt from MS of the License Key allocated to COMPANY. COMPANY agrees that it shall only use the IEAK in accordance with the Instructions. In the event the capabilities and/or instructions of the IEAK are in conflict, either by providing more or fewer capabilities than the customization rights granted in Sections 2(d) through (g), the customization rights in Sections 2(d) through (g) shall have precedence.

(b) Licensed Software. MS grants to COMPANY a nonexclusive, limited, worldwide, royalty-free license to use, reproduce and distribute (directly and indirectly through COMPANY's distributors) through COMPANY's distribution channels (including, but not limited to, distribution via the Web) the Licensed Software solely as part of or for use in conjunction with COMPANY's Internet Product to COMPANY's end user customers and prospective end user customers. The foregoing license is expressly subject to the following conditions:

(1) No standalone Distribution. The Licensed Software may only be distributed as part of or for use with COMPANY's Internet Product, and not as a "standalone" product; provided, however, that COMPANY or COMPANY's sublicensees may distribute updates of the Licensed Software separately for purposes of updating an existing end user customer of an Internet Product.

(2) New Releases. If MSCORP makes a new release (other than an "Update" release which is designated by MSCORP as a change in the hundredths digit [x.x(x)]) of any component of the Licensed Software available, then: (i) COMPANY shall use reasonable efforts to cease reproduction and distribution of the older version of the Licensed Software component and shall use reasonable efforts to commence reproduction and distribution of the new release of the Licensed Software component with COMPANY's Internet Product, provided that COMPANY may deplete its existing inventory of COMPANY's Internet Product containing a prior version of the Licensed Software; and (ii) COMPANY shall use reasonable efforts to notify its end users that a new release of the Licensed Software may be available from MSCORP by at least including substantially the following notice on COMPANY's main public web site for the Internet Product: "A new version of the Licensed Software (or component thereof) may be available from Microsoft. Please go to www.microsoft.com to update your software today."

(3) License Restrictions. The following restrictions apply to the license grant in this Section 2: (i) COMPANY may not reverse engineer, decompile or disassemble the Licensed Software; (ii) COMPANY may not separate the components of the Licensed Software for individual distribution; (iii) Except as expressly provided in Section 2 of this Agreement, COMPANY may not exclude any component of the Licensed Software from its distribution of the Licensed Software with its Internet Product; (iv) COMPANY may not authorize further redistribution of the Licensed Software by its end users of COMPANY's Internet Product; and (v) COMPANY shall maintain and not alter or remove any copyright, trademark, and other protective notices contained in the Licensed Software, including the end user license agreement ("EULA") which is included in the setup installation of the Licensed Software. COMPANY shall also comply with the Guidelines.

(c) Product Quality.

(1) COMPANY agrees to maintain the quality of the Internet Product at a level that meets or exceeds industry standards and that is at least commensurate with the quality of products distributed by COMPANY on or before the Effective Date.

(d) Permitted Customizations. For versions 4.0 of Internet Explorer which support Channels, COMPANY may use the applicable IEAK to perform the any or all of the following additional customizations with respect to Channels.

(1) Add a single COMPANY Channel Icon to the topmost navigation level of the Internet Explorer Active Desktop Channel bar in the position below the Microsoft Channel Guide Icon. Said Icon may link either to COMPANY or third party Channel available through Internet Explorer, provided that any trade names, trademarks, logos or brands displayed on the Channel Icon added by COMPANY shall be limited to COMPANY's mark or COMPANY's Internet Product marks.

(2) Add multiple "sub-channels" grouped underneath (at the second navigation level) the COMPANY Channel Icon on the Internet Explorer Active Desktop channel bar, where each such sub-channel may be linked to COMPANY or third-party Content accessible through Internet Explorer, and where each such sub-channel may use any branding selected by COMPANY. In the case where sub-channels are grouped underneath a COMPANY Channel Icon, the COMPANY Channel is the only Channel which is individually recognized by IE; the sub-channels do not operate as separate Channels by themselves (and cannot be subscribed separately using the Internet Explorer 4.0 user interface).

(3) Configure the COMPANY Channel added by COMPANY to be "subscribed" by default, such that COMPANY Channel Content and schedule information downloads to the end user's computer system hard disk automatically when the end user connects to the Internet and selects the "update" option.

(4) Delete from the Internet Explorer Active Desktop Channel bar any pre-configured Channel Icons that are developed or distributed by companies which compete directly with COMPANY, where such deleted Channels are to include only: (i) pre-configured Channels from other Internet access providers, (ii) pre-configured Channels which are produced by, or exclusively distributed by, direct competitors of COMPANY. COMPANY may not delete a pre-configured Channel Icon that offers Content which is not directly competitive with COMPANY or COMPANY's Content but that may nonetheless compete for the end users' attention or interest with Content offered by COMPANY.

(e) Selection of Pre-Configured Channels. For versions 4.0 of Internet Explorer which support Channels, COMPANY shall use the IEAK to select the pre-configured Channels for the specific territory for which each and every COMPANY-customized version of IE is targeted for distribution. For example, if COMPANY customizes separate versions of IE for distribution into territories A and B, COMPANY shall use the IEAK to select the pre-configured default Channels for territory A for the version of IE COMPANY creates for territory A, and shall use the IEAK to select the pre-configured default Channels for territory B for the version of IE COMPANY creates for territory B. If COMPANY distributes a single version of IE into multiple territories, COMPANY shall use the IEAK to select the pre-configured default Channels that are targeted to the single largest population in the combined territories in which COMPANY distributes IE. For the purposes of this paragraph, "territory" shall mean a language/country combination, such as German/Switzerland or French/Canada.

(f) Internet Explorer Features. For any Channel added by COMPANY pursuant to Section 2(d) above, COMPANY agrees to use reasonable commercial efforts to develop and maintain said Channel such that it demonstrates the advanced features of Internet Explorer (including Dynamic HTML, etc.) and meets end user expectations of performance and frequency of update such that COMPANY's Channel compares favorably, in COMPANY's reasonable judgment, to Channels offered by other companies in COMPANY's line of business.

(g) Use of Standard Redistribution Key. For version 4.0 of Internet Explorer, COMPANY may use the applicable IEAK and the IEAK Customization Wizard with the "Standard Redistribution" key capabilities of the Wizard to perform the any or all of the following customizations

A.1 Non-customized Distribution. If COMPANY chooses not to customize its installations for the Licensed Software, then any distribution by COMPANY must include the "Full" installation option offered in the IEAK. In addition, COMPANY may also include the "Standard" and/or "Minimal" installation options as described in the Instructions. COMPANY may not exclude any Licensed Software component from an installation.

(a) IEAK. MS grants to COMPANY a nonexclusive, limited worldwide, royalty-free license to customize Internet Explorer and Outlook Express using the IEAK in accordance with the Instructions. COMPANY acknowledges and agrees that its use of the IEAK to customize Internet Explorer and Outlook Express requires the rightful receipt from MS of the License Key allocated to COMPANY. COMPANY agrees that it shall only use the IEAK in accordance with the Instructions. In the event the capabilities and/or instructions of the IEAK are in conflict, either by providing more or fewer capabilities than the customization rights granted in Sections 2(d) through (g), the customization rights in Sections 2(d) through (g) shall have precedence.

(b) Licensed Software. MS grants to COMPANY a nonexclusive, limited, worldwide, royalty-free license to use, reproduce and distribute (directly and indirectly through COMPANY's distributors) through COMPANY's distribution channels (including, but not limited to, distribution via the Web) the Licensed Software solely as part of or for use in conjunction with COMPANY's Internet Product to COMPANY's end user customers and prospective end user customers. The foregoing license is expressly subject to the following conditions:

(1) No Standalone Distribution. The Licensed Software may only be distributed as part of or for use with COMPANY's Internet Product, and not as a "standalone" product; provided, however, that COMPANY or COMPANY's sublicensees may distribute updates of the Licensed Software separately for purposes of updating an existing end user customer of an Internet Product.

(2) New Releases. If MSCORP makes a new release (other than an "Update" release which is designated by MSCORP as a change in the hundredths digit [x.x(x)]) of any component of the Licensed Software available, then: (i) COMPANY shall use reasonable efforts to cease reproduction and distribution of the older version of the Licensed Software component and shall use reasonable efforts to commence reproduction and distribution of the new release of the Licensed Software component with COMPANY's Internet Product, provided that COMPANY may deple e its existing inventory of COMPANY's Internet Product containing a prior version of the Licensed Software; and (ii) COMPANY shall use reasonable efforts to notify its end users that a new release of the Licensed Software may be available from MSCORP by at least including substantially the following notice on COMPANY's main public web site for the Internet Product: "A new version of the Licensed Software (or component thereof) may be available from Microsoft. Please go to www.microsoft.com to update your software today."

(3) License Restrictions. The following restrictions apply to the license grant in this Section 2: (i) COMPANY may not reverse engineer, decompile or disassemble the Licensed Software; (ii) COMPANY may not separate the components of the Licensed Software for individual distribution; (iii) Except as expressly provided in Section 2 of this Agreement, COMPANY may not exclude any component of the Licensed Software from its distribution of the Licensed Software with its Internet Product; (iv) COMPANY may not authorize further redistribution of the Licensed Software by its end users of COMPANY's Internet Product; and (v) COMPANY shall maintain and not alter or remove any copyright, trademark, and other protective notices contained in the Licensed Software, including the end user license agreement ("EULA") which is included in the setup installation of the Licensed Software. COMPANY shall also comply with the Guidelines.

(c) Product Quality.

(1) COMPANY agrees to maintain the quality of the Internet Product at a level that meets or exceeds industry standards and that is at least commensurate with the quality of products distributed by COMPANY on or before the Effective Date.

(d) Permitted Customizations. For versions 4.0 of Internet Explorer which support Channels, COMPANY may use the applicable IEAK to perform the any or all of the following additional customizations with respect to Channels.

(1) Add a single COMPANY Channel icon to the topmost navigation level of the Internet Explorer Active Desktop Channel bar in the position below the Microsoft Channel Guide Icon. Said Icon may link either to COMPANY or third party Channel available through Internet Explorer, provided that any trade names, trademarks, logos or brands displayed on the Channel Icon added by COMPANY shall be limited to COMPANY's mark or COMPANY's Internet Product marks.

(2) Add multiple "sub-channels" grouped underneath (at the second navigation level) the COMPANY Channel Icon on the Internet Explorer Active Desktop channel bar, where each such sub-channel may be linked to COMPANY or third-party Content accessible through Internet Explorer, and where each such sub-channel may use any branding selected by COMPANY. In the case where sub-channels are grouped underneath a COMPANY Channel Icon, the COMPANY Channel is the only Channel which is individually recognized by IE; the sub-channels do not operate as separate Channels by themselves (and cannot be subscribed separately using the Internet Explorer 4.0 user interface).

(3) Configure the COMPANY Channel added by COMPANY to be "subscribed" by default, such that COMPANY Channel Content and schedule information downloads to the end user's computer system hard disk automatically when the end user connects to the Internet and selects the "update" option.

(4) Delete from the Internet Explorer Active Desktop Channel bar any pre-configured Channel Icons that are developed or distributed by companies which compete directly with COMPANY, where such deleted Channels are to include only: (i) pre-configured Channels from other Internet access providers, (ii) pre-configured Channels which are produced by, or exclusively distributed by, direct competitors of COMPANY. COMPANY may not delete a pre-configured Channel Icon that offers Content which is not directly competitive with COMPANY or COMPANY's Content but that may nonetheless compete for the end users' attention or interest with Content offered by COMPANY.

(e) Selection of Pre-Configured Channels. For versions 4.0 of Internet Explorer which support Channels, COMPANY shall use the IEAK to select the pre-configured Channels for the specific territory for which each and every COMPANY-customized version of IE is targeted for distribution. For example, if COMPANY customizes separate versions of IE for distribution into territories A and B, COMPANY shall use the IEAK to select the pre-configured default Channels for territory A for the version of IE COMPANY creates for territory A, and shall use the IEAK to select the pre-configured default Channels for territory B for the version of IE COMPANY creates for territory B. If COMPANY distributes a single version of IE into multiple territories, COMPANY shall use the IEAK to select the pre-configured default Channels that are targeted to the single largest population in the combined territories in which COMPANY distributes IE. For the purposes of this paragraph, "territory" shall mean a language/country combination, such as German/Switzerland or French/Canada.

Exhibit C- Attachment 1   Page 61 of 51

(f) Internet Explorer Features. For any Channel added by COMPANY pursuant to Section 2(d) above, COMPANY agrees to use reasonable commercial efforts to develop and maintain said Channel such that it demonstrates the advanced features of Internet Explorer (including Dynamic HTML, etc.) and meets end user expectations of performance and frequency of update such that COMPANY's Channel compares favorably, in COMPANY's reasonable judgment, to Channels offered by other companies in COMPANY's line of business.
