They are dying. Tony, BillSch, Legal, and I have been in discussions with them about licensing some of their IP. Not surprisingly, they have no real business model, and would prefer to be acquired.

Specifics of the discussions should be covered off-line.

Someone has mentioned Burst in the past...any POVs? In their whitepaper, they claim to be faster and better than WMT. Is there hope they are a partner?

Here's the URL for the broadband site I mentioned today. BTW, word on the street is they're hurting and looking for buyers.
